

Vienna International Summer School on New Social Housing
15-19 September 2025

HOUSING & HEALTH

The Role of Dwelling in Shaping Individual, Communal and Planetary Well-Being

Monday, 15 September 2025, 14:00–18:00

OPENING SYMPOSIUM

TU Wien, Seminar room ADEG,
Karlsplatz 13, 1040 Wien

Inputs by

Isabelle Anguelovski

Barcelona Laboratory for Urban Environmental Justice and Sustainability, Universitat Autònoma de Barcelona

Freya Brandl

Architect & Co-Founder of Kolokation Association, Austria

Avril Coroon

Visual Artist, Ireland

Nora Ramirez Castillo

Deputy Managing Director of Hemayat, Austria

Christian Reutlinger

Institute of Social Work and Health, University of Applied
Sciences and Arts Northwestern Switzerland

Beate Wimmer-Puchinger

Psychologist & former Women's Health Officer for the City of Vienna

moderated by Bernadette Krejs, Research Unit of Housing & Design, TU Wien, and Christoph Reinprecht,
Department of Sociology, University of Vienna

Wednesday, 17 September 2025, 19:00

PUBLIC LECTURE

University of Applied Arts Vienna, Hörsaal 1, Oskar Kokoschka-Platz 2, 1010 Wien

Lecture by

Izumi Kuroishi

School of Cultural and Creative Studies, Aoyama Gakuin
University, Tokyo, Japan

Responses by

Brigitte Felderer (Social Design, University of Applied Arts Vienna) and Simon Güntner (HAW Hamburg)

moderated by Judith M. Lehner, Research Center for New Social Housing, TU Wien

During the 8th Vienna International Summer School on New Social Housing scholars, practitioners, artists, and activists will explore the varied linkages between planetary inhabitation, housing security and affordability, physical and mental health, and social well-being, attending to the manifold dimensions and regional situatedness of housing and health.

@newsocialhousing

Graphic design: Judith M. Lehner | Logo: Juma Hauser

